License

CC-BY-SA with the following exception:

The by-sa condition is imperative if you modify the samples themselves or create new sample libraries with this licensed product. However, produced music and other non-sample-library works can be licensed freely.

Attribution means keeping all authors information and this readme-file or its content in the release

If you want to create a fork, a modified version, of this sample library you have to release and distribute it under a different name.
